Essen, Jan. 19.—French troops seized and occupied two state mines in the Buer region of the Ruhr today.
The directors and President Ahrens of the mine management at Reibelsen were arrested.
German workers immediately threatened to strike in retaliation, demanding release of the officials and removal of the troops.
France also began development of a customs line around the Rhineland-Ruhr. Within the limits of the newly occupied zone the invaders tightened their hold on the pulse of German industry. Docks on the Rhine Heren canal were seized and all traffic to Germany halted. Four trains loaded with coke were stopped.

TREMENDOUS EXCITEMENT AND NEAR PANIC RULES

Amid scenes of tremendous excitement and near panic, French troops today seized branches of the German Reichsbank throughout the Rhineland-Ruhr.

Conflicting reports as to the confiscations came from various sources; in some instances it was reported actual cash had been seized. A Berlin dispatch said the troops were acting under instructions of the Inter-allied Rhineland commission, and were taking only the customs tax office deposits. At Dusseldorf an automobile carrying 150,000,000 marks was reported taken by the French.

Banks were surrounded by troops, and their papers seized in Mayence, Dusseldorf, Dortmund, Wiesbaden, Wormsingen and Bohn. The French acted swiftly and in most instances Reichsbank's directors were preparing to flee as the confiscations were being put into effect. Depositors became panicky at Dusseldorf and all the city's banks were closed.

Credit institutions and tax collectors' offices throughout the Ruhr district were also seized; coke furnaces and state mines were occupied by French troops; several arrests of German officials were made.

The German government reiterated instructions to its workers to continue passive resistance and furnish no coal to the invaders; the cabinet agreed to reimburse workers and operators for losses incurred through such resistance.

France warned Germany that further recalcitrance would result in coal movements from the Ruhr to Germany being stopped altogether.

Withdrawn Parliamentary Immunity

NORTHWEST FARMER LIQUIDATES 28 PCT. OF TOTAL LOANS

NINTH FEDERAL RESERVE DISTRICT BRANCH, WAR FINANCE CORP. REPORTS

SECY. GRANDGAARD SAYS AGRICULTURE IS GETTING BACK ON ITS FEET

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Jan. 19.—Farmers of the northwest have liquidated 28 per cent of their total loans the Ninth Federal reserve district branch of the war finance corporation announced today.

Liquidation in round figures amounts to about $15,000,000 and reflects a greatly improved condition in agriculture throughout the district, according to M. O. Grandgaard, secretary of the branch.
"Agriculture is taking great strides toward getting back on its feet" said Mr. Grandgaard.

Banks in the Ninth Federal reserve that have borrowed money from the Minneapolis office of the war finance corporation have made optimistic reports. Farmers have repaid 28 per cent of the total loans to these banks, according to the survey.

"We consider this liquidation a very good showing and attribute it to good crops in western North Dakota and to an advance in the level of prices for cattle, corn and hogs that has enabled the farmers of South Dakota and southern Minnesota to recover some of their lost ground. Most of the liquidation has been in these sections," he said.

The liquidation will continue now that the period is at hand for marketing of hogs in South Dakota and southern Minnesota, it is believed.

STATE SENATE GETS WARM IN A DEBATE MEXICAN AFFAIRS

REVOLVED AROUND PROPOSAL TO ENDORSE ADMINISTRATION OF OREGON

WIDE SLEIGH LAW REPEALED. BILL UP TO REDUCE TAX ON FORD CARS

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Jan. 19.—A heated battle waged in the state senate today over a proposal to endorse the administration of President Obregon of Mexico.

Senator George Nordlund, St. Paul, proposed a resolution urging congress to promote better relations between the United States and Mexico. Senator George Sullivan, Stillwater, led the fight against the measure. It was buried when it was referred to the committee on general legislation.

The senate recommended passage of a bill to put peace in the blue sky law.

Such a measure has already passed the house providing that all classes of stock sales shall be placed under supervision of a state security commission.

The bill repealing the wide sleigh law was passed.

A bill introduced by Senator Iver Lee, farmer-labor member, proposes to reduce the motor vehicle tax on Ford automobiles from $12 to a minimum of $7. It also reduces the tax on farm tractors.

The measure would increase the tax on five-ton trucks establishing a minimum of $75.

Senator Charles Hausler, St. Paul, introduced a bill requiring all architects in the state to be registered. Senator Sweet, Minneapolis, introduced a bill providing for establishment of a $275,000 psychopathic hospital at the University of Minnesota. An additional appropriation of $85,000 for maintenance is asked.

Senator W. F. Brooks introduced a bill to authorize issuance of $4,000,000 in bonds for a new Minneapolis auditorium.

WALLIE REID, IDOL OF SCREEN, FALLS VICTIM TO DRUGS

ON THE LIPS OF HOLLYWOOD FILM FOLKS IS ONE PHRASE, "DOPE MUST GO"

UNANIMITY OF SPIRIT SHOWN TO DRIVE OUT THE MENACE TO PICTURE INDUSTRY

(By United Press)

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—In the little Hollywood chapel where make believe scenes of sorrow and death have been filmed times without number, preparations were made today for the funeral of "Wallie" Reid, screen idol, whose brilliant career was dramatically closed yesterday when he lost a heroic fight to "come back" from the shadow land of drugs.

Two blocks away, the great Lasky lot where Wallie rose to fame was deserted and silent. Sunlight flickered on gaudy sets and massive scenes; the great Kleigh lights stood gaunt and shuttered while on the lips of film folk there was but one phrase:

"Dope must go."

After two years of whispered rumors about the victims that the narcotic tentacles have claimed among the actors, the climax—the death of Reid—caused the film colony to band itself with amazing unanimity of spirit to drive out the menace to the industry.

Reid died yesterday at a sanatorium where he was treated for the last month following a nervous breakdown. His wife, Dorothy Dayenport and their child were at the bedside at the end.

Congestion of lungs and kidneys caused by his nervous breakdown was given by physicians as the immediate cause of death which followed a sudden relapse after it appeared he might recover.

The doctors said, however, that the star's general condition was made worse by the effects of the drugs, which, according to his wife and mother-in-law Wallie ceased to use shortly before his breakdown some time ago.

The funeral probably will be held tomorrow when the ever present camera which recorded Wallie's rise to fame and fortune will as reluctantly film his tragic "fade out".

Flocked to Town to Hear Verdict

Marion, Ill., Jan. 19.—Coal miners and their families from all parts of "Little Egypt" flocked into Marion today for the verdict of the Herrin massacre cases. Crowds milled about the streets shortly after dawn, gradually gathering at the court house where the jury was locked at the court room.

Judge Dewitt Hartwell was scheduled to appear at 10 o'clock and the throngs expected the jury would be ready to report soon afterward. The jury was locked up at 10 o'clock last night after 11 hours' deliberation.

Many of the men came to town directly from the pits, dressed in their working clothes. The women with bright dresses and hats added a touch of color. Children dashed about madly, taking an unexpected holiday.

Jury Out More Than 24 Hours

Marion, Ill., Jan. 19.—With the jury in the Herrin trial out for more than 24 hours, a growing crowd of miners gathered in the public square.

The bailiffs in charge of the jury will be called into conference late today with attorneys representing the state and defense, Judge Hartwell announced.

The judge indicated he would hold the jury one week if necessary unless the bailiffs reported a hopeless deadlock.

ENGAGEMENT "RING" OF SILK

Pretty Custom Which Obtains in Japan When Young People Have Made a Definite Choice.

In Japan there are many simple and sweet customs. The Japanese are a nation of lovers of romance and symbolism. Simplicity of thought and delicacy of feeling add to the charm and beauty of their many truly artistic customs.

Even in love affairs and in courtships this same sweet simplicity is observed. The thought is not lost in complicating realities and expense. The young man does not have to save up so he can perhaps spend more money than he should to give his fiancée an engagement ring, because in Japan they do not wear engagement rings.

Instead, after a girl has promised to marry the man of her choice he proudly goes to the best shop where the finest silks are sold. Here, with great care, he selects a beautiful piece of silk and carries it lovingly to the girl of his heart.

With this silk the newly engaged girl makes a sash and wears it triumphantly. This is her engagement "ring."

Lifts Mired Motortrucks.

For lifting motortrucks out of mud, sand or snow, in which they may be stranded, a portable attachment, shown in Popular Mechanics Magazine, for connection to a mired wheel, is in the form of a wooden four-sided block, in length about half the width of the truck. About the middle of this block is an eyebolt through which a chain having a hook at one end is passed. The chain is long enough to encircle the rim of the wheel, against which it is made tight by slipping the hook into the link of the chain. A tubular extension at the end of the block is so made that, when two blocks are placed on opposite wheels, they will telescope together. The truck is lifted by the blocks when the wheels are rotated.

WIDE SLEIGH LAW REPEALED. BILL UP TO REDUCE TAX ON FORD CARS

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Jan. 19.—A heated battle waged in the state senate today over a proposal to endorse the administration of President Oregon of Mexico.

Senator George Nordlund, St. Paul, proposed a resolution urging congress to promote better relations between the United States and Mexico. Senator George Sullivan, Stillwater, lead the fight against the measure. It was buried when it was referred to the committee on general legislation.

The senate recommended passage of a bill to put peace in the blue sky law.

Such a measure has already passed the house providing that all classes of stock sales shall be placed under supervision of a state security commission.

The bill repealing the wide sleigh law was passed.

A bill introduced by Senator Iver Lee, farmer-labor member, proposes to reduce the motor vehicle tax on Ford automobiles from $12 to a minimum of $7. It also reduces the tax on farm tractors.

The measure would increase the tax on five-ton trucks establishing a minimum of $75.

Senator Charles Hausler, St. Paul, introduced a bill requiring all architects in the state to be registered. Senator Sweet, Minneapolis, introduced a bill providing for establishment of a $275,000 psychopathic hospital at the University of Minnesota. An additional appropriation of $85,000 for maintenance is asked.

Senator W. F. Brooks introduced a bill to authorize issuance of $4,000,000 in bonds for a new Minneapolis auditorium.

"FLASH" WIRED TO DISPATCH AT 2 P.M. DETAILS LACKING

COAL MINERS AND THEIR FAMILIES FLOCKED TO TOWN TO HEAR VERDICT

JURY LOCKED UP LAST NIGHT AFTER 11 HOURS OF DELIBERATION

(By United Press)

Marion, Ill., Jan. 19, 2 P. M.—All miners in the Herrin trial were acquitted.

Flocked to Town to Hear Verdict

Marion, Ill., Jan. 19.—Coal miners and their families from all parts of "Little Egypt" flocked into Marion today for the verdict of the Herrin massacre cases. Crowds milled about the streets shortly after dawn, gradually gathering at the court house where the jury was locked at the court room.

Judge Dewitt Hartwell was scheduled to appear at 10 o'clock and the throngs expected the jury would be ready to report soon afterward. The jury was locked up at 10 o'clock last night after 11 hours' deliberation.

Many of the men came to town directly from the pits, dressed in their working clothes. The women with bright dresses and hats added a touch of color. Children dashed about madly, taking an unexpected holiday.

Jury Out More Than 24 Hours

Marion, Ill., Jan. 19.—With the jury in the Herrin trial out for more than 24 hours, a growing crowd of miners gathered in the public square.

The balliffs in charge of the jury will be called into conference late today with attorneys representing the state and defense, Judge Hartwell announced.

The judge indicated he would hold the jury one week if necessary unless the balliffs reported a hopeless deadlock.

ENGAGEMENT "RING" OF SILK

Pretty Custom Which Obtains in Japan When Young People Have Made a Definite Choice.

In Japan there are many simple and sweet customs. The Japanese are a nation of lovers of romance and symbolism. Simplicity of thought and delicacy of feeling add to the charm and beauty of their many truly artistic customs.

Even in love affairs and in courtships this same sweet simplicity is observed. The thought is not lost in complicating realities and expense. The young man does not have to save up so he can perhaps spend more money than he should to give his fiancée an engagement ring, because in Japan they do not wear engagement rings.

Instead, after a girl has promised to marry the man of her choice he proudly goes to the best shop where the finest silks are sold. Here, with great care, he selects a beautiful piece of silk and carries it lovingly to the girl of his heart.

With this silk the newly engaged girl makes a sash and wears it triumphantly. This is her engagement "ring."

Lifts Mired Motortrucks.

For lifting motortrucks out of mud, sand or snow, in which they may be stranded, a portable attachment, shown in Popular Mechanics Magazine, for connection to a mired wheel, is in the form of a wooden four-sided block, in length about half the width of the truck. About the middle of this block is an eyebolt through which a chain having a hook at one end is passed. The chain is long enough to encircle the rim of the wheel, against which it is made tight by slipping the hook into the link of the chain. A tubular extension at the end of the block is so made that, when two blocks are placed on opposite wheels, they will telescope together. The truck is lifted by the blocks when the wheels are rotated.

WALLIE REID, IDOL OF SCREEN, FALLS VICTIM TO DRUGS

ON THE LIPS OF HOLLYWOOD FILM FOLKS IS ONE PHRASE, "DOPE MUST GO"

UNANIMITY OF SPIRIT SHOWN TO DRIVE OUT THE MENACE TO PICTURE INDUSTRY

(By United Press)

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—In the little Hollywood chapel where make believe scenes of sorrow and death have been filmed times without number, preparations were made today for the funeral of "Wallie" Reid, screen idol, whose brilliant career was dramatically closed yesterday when he lost a heroic fight to "come back" from the shadow land of drugs.

Two blocks away, the great Lasky lot where Wallie rose to fame was deserted and silent. Sunlight flickered on gaudy sets and massive scenes; the great Kleigh lights stood gaunt and shuttered while on the lips of film folk there was but one phrase:

"Dope must go."

After two years of whispered rumors about the victims that the narcotic tentacles have claimed among the actors, the climax—the death of Reid—caused the film colony to band itself with amazing unanimity of spirit to drive out the menace to the industry.

Reid died yesterday at a sanatorium where he was treated for the last month following a nervous breakdown. His wife, Dorothy Dayenport and their child were at the bedside at the end.

Congestion of lungs and kidneys caused by his nervous breakdown was given by physicians as the immediate cause of death which followed a sudden relapse after it appeared he might recover.

The doctors said, however, that the star's general condition was made worse by the effects of the drugs, which, according to his wife and mother-in-law Wallie ceased to use shortly before his breakdown some time ago.

The funeral probably will be held tomorrow when the ever present camera which recorded Wallie's rise to fame and fortune will as reluctantly film his tragic "fade out."

CHARGED SENDING THREATENING LETTER

(By United Press)

Cleveland, Jan. 19.—A man who gave his name as Frank Fox today was charged with wrongfully using the mails in connection with the mailing of a threatening letter to President Harding.

The letter threatened the life of the president if he did not raise $25,000 and send to an address at Elyria, Ohio. Fox said he was a dairy worker. He declined to discuss the charge against him.

Look at little Buck Murphy's neck! Just below the grin, it is—See that tag? It's fastened to a chain that has been soldered around the three year old's neck and it bears his name and address: "Buck Murphy, 2887 Newton Ave., San Diego".

That is his parent's home—they long ago gave up hoping that Buck could be kept at home, so far he has a dozen escapes from the irksome confines of the front yard to his credit, once eloping with a tiny maid of his neighborhood and once getting a good three miles away before he was caught. He has hammered, or sawed, or otherwise broken stronger chains than this one when one end had been fastened to a post in the yard; but so far this one has resisted his efforts.

Egypt's Dense Population.

Egypt has an area of about 350,000 square miles. The bulk of the country consists of inhospitable sand and desert. Practically the only settled portion consists of a very narrow band of cultivated territory on each side of the Nile. The Nile valley and delta, the only settled portion of Egypt, have an area of 12,223 square miles, almost exactly one-fourth the size of New York state. This narrow area contains the densest population in the world. At the moment it should come to approximately 13,000,000. If New York state were as densely peopled, it would have nearly 50,000,000 inhabitants, while the United Kingdom would on the same basis have 110,000,000.—From Current History.

Passing of a Real Sport.

If the present race for fur continues it won't be many years until the present tendency to go in for strawberry raising, chicken farming, etc., will be superseded by a rush to start skunk, possum and coon ranches. Fur-bearing animals will be raised in great numbers and they will not be molested until their fur is right, that the quality of the pelts may be improved. But the picturesqueness and adventures of the business will be gone forever. A good coon dog that will sell these days for enough to buy a good second-hand flivver will yelp homeless and ownerless down the road with a can tied to his tail.—Van Buren County (Ark.) Democrat.

MRS. KATHERINE EVANS BLAKE

Prominent Mill City Woman and Author Well Known in Brainerd

The Minneapolis Tribune chronicles the death of Mrs. Katherine Evans Blake, prominent club woman and author which occurred at the home of her son in Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Blake is well known in Brainerd and vicinity, through the fact that she maintained a cottage at Hubert where she spent the summers and because her husband, the late Prof. Blake, who conducted the Blake School for Boys, which is still in operation under the same name in Minneapolis.

Prof. Blake also started the Blake Summer Camp for Boys at Hubert lake, disposing of his interests some years before his death. The camp is still maintained each summer, numerous boys coming from Minneapolis to attend it.

The article as published in the Minneapolis paper follows:

Minneapolis club women—by the thousands—are mourning the death of Mrs. Katherine Evans Blake, pioneer club woman and author.

News of her death was dispatched in a telegram from Indianapolis, Ind., by her son, Donald A. Blake, to her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Evans, 3133 James avenue south.

At the Woman's club sorrow of scores of her former associates was visibly expressed when Mrs. A. E. Zonne, president, read the message from the platform.

"Mrs. Blake's death will be a distinct loss," Mrs. Cassius M. Ferguson, past president, added. "She had a fine literary mind, a gentle loving spirit and was a great inspiration always to the younger women."

Following publication of her two best novels, "Stuff of a Man," dealing with the Negro problem, and "Heart's Haven," Mrs. Blake wrote only short stories and articles, many of which appeared in leading publications.

Funeral services for Mrs. Blake will be held in Indianapolis, at the home of her son. Her brother, E. H. Blake, left for the east last night. She is survived by three brothers, C. C. Evans of Los Angeles; J. M. Evans, Salt Lake City, Utah; C. W. Evans, Duluth; one sister, Mrs. J. Heady of Rockport, Ind.; a niece and nephew, Mrs. Arthur Brown and Ed Will Fisher, Minneapolis. The late Robert G. Evans, United States district attorney, was her brother.

Members of Young Peoples Department of Methodist Church Attend Banquet

IN CHURCH PARLORS JAN. 18

Much Credit for Making Event Successful Due Mrs. Clarkson, Mrs. Eastling and Miss Simmons

The Young Peoples Department of the Methodist church enjoyed a banquet and social evening in the church parlors Thursday evening, invitations being sent to about 70.

Those attending included members of the Alpha Delta girls class and the Upstreamers class of young men. These classes had joined forces some time ago for the purpose of conducting a contest for new members. Sides were chosen and given a color.

The Blue's were captained by Clarence Brown, the White's by Miss Sylvia Nelson. It was understood that the side losing the contest were to give the winners an entertainment.

The Blue's lost and Thursday's banquet was their method of paying the fiddler. They took their defeat like true sportsmen and entertained their winning opponents royally, at a three-course supper.

Rev. E. A. Cooke offered the blessing which was followed by hymn before the diners were seated. Throughout the meal a program of talks and music was interspersed, with Miss Mayme Nelson acting as toastmistress.

The first number was a saxophone duet by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Niles, with Miss Gladys Northrup at the piano.

Short talks were made by members of the two classes, including Henry Cunningham, Carrie Peterson, Russell Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Floyd Hall, Clarence Brown and Harold Andrews.

Mrs. George Eastling and Miss Gayle Simmons rendered a vocal duet, as did Miss Esther Nelson and Miss Simmons. H. F. Michael, as superintendent of the Sunday School voiced his appreciation of the results accomplished during the contest and asked for a continuance of the same spirit.

John Leak, instructor of the Upstreamers, spoke of his hopes and aspirations for the future of both classes.

Miss Emmogene Clarkson responded with a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Gunhild Nelson, and the entire assemblage made the parlors ring with several old-time melodies.

Much credit is due Mrs. Paul Clarkson, Mrs. George Eastling and Miss Gladys Simmons for their untiring efforts which made this event so successful, and a rising vote of thanks was tendered them.

The balance of the evening was given over to sociability, games and music occupying the young people until a late hour.

THE K. K. K. INVESTIGATION AT BASTROP, LA.

This is the first photograph to be made of the opening of the investigation at Bastrop, La., of the alleged Ku Klux Klan outrages. The little courtroom was crowded when the hearing was opened, with the federal and state government attorneys prepared to delve deeply into the operation of the band of masked riders that kidnaped F. Watt Daniels and Thomas F. Richards, and which band is alleged to have later tortuously murdered the two men.

DR. COUE AND AUTO-SUGGESTION

Girl eRepeats the Formula to Reduce Her Weight and at End of Two Weeks Gained 2 Pounds

COL. JOHNSON'S INTERVIEW

Being a Fellow Druggist or Pharmacist He Could Not Fraternally "Knock" Coue

Dr. Coue and his auto-suggestion theories are being tried out in Brainerd in dozens of homes. Some admit it, others are repeating the secret formula all by themselves where nothing except their inner consciousness can be aware of the:

"Day by day in every way I am getting better and better."

One Brainerd girl, a stenographer, had the idea that she was getting too heavy, was losing her willowy form and so for two weeks she steadily repeated:

"Day by day in every way, I'm getting thinner and thinner."

At the end of two weeks she weighed herself, and horrors, she had gained a full two pounds in weight.

Col. C. D. Johnson, druggist, who by the way can be called a fraternal brother of Dr. Coue, for the Frenchman was a pharmacist mixing physician's formulas before he evolved the magic phrase, said that if Doc Coue was entirely successful in his treatment of the subconscious by mere words it would deliver the drug store business of the world a serious body blow.

Mental suggestion may affect some people, but it will not affect all people, said the colonel. In the class not affected by mental suggestion are the democrats, baseball umpires, bill collectors, reporters, coal dealers, speed cops, etc.

What It Would Be.

The teacher was trying to make clear to a bad boy of the class the meaning of the term "accidental death." "Suppose," said she, "that in passing over a rotten bridge the mayor of the town should tumble into the river and be drowned—what would you call that?" "We would call it a holiday the next day," answered the bad boy.

Jefferson and Hamilton.

Thomas Jefferson as Washington's secretary of state, and Alexander Hamilton, as his secretary of the treasury, had opinions on subjects of national importance that were diametrically opposite. About one grew up the Democratic party, and about the other the Federalist.

Dingman-Fitch

Miss Ethel Mabel Fitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Fitch of N. E. Brainerd, became the bride of Clarence C. Dingman Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Judge J. T. Sanborn performed the ceremony.

The bride was accompanied by her mother and sister Zelda. Wm. Ker-buen acted as best man.

The bride was gowned in a beaded dress of blue satin, with picture hat to match. The bridesmaid wore blue taffeta.

A six o'clock wedding dinner was served to twenty-four relatives and intimate friends.

The couple left on the early morning train for a short honeymoon, which they will spend with friends in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Dingman will be at home to their many friends after Feb. 1st at their home at 1107 6th avenue, Northeast.

Celebrates Birthday

Donald Nelson celebrated his birthday by inviting a group of friends. Games were played, there was coasting and skiing and at the conclusion his mother furnished a generous lunch. The assemblage present included these girls and little men, Lillian Britton, Hazel Forcier, Jennie Babcock, Lucille Erickson, Roger Kleven, Elwood Huggdahl, Zane Smith, Freddie Weidemann, John Hoffbauer Jr. and Donald Nelson.

Now is the time to fight constipation with Bran—Start to-day!

Don't give the diseases that follow in the track of constipation a chance to lodge in your system! Get after constipation with nature's greatest helper—BRAN, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled—because it is ALL BRAN and because it will give you permanent relief from constipation! It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that.

Bran's action is wonderful. It sweeps and cleanses and purifies. It knocks out the dangerous toxic poisons and frees the system from pollution! Try Kellogg's Bran for a week. Eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls each day; as much each meal in chronic cases. You will be astounded at the difference in your feelings!

Kellogg's Bran should not be confused with common bran which is unpalatable and difficult to eat. Kellogg's is cooked and all ready to serve and really delicious. Eat it as a cereal, sprinkled over your favorite hot or cold cereal or cook or mix it with hot cereal. In the latter cases add two tablespoonfuls for each person.

Do you realize what Kellogg's Bran can do for you and for your family; do you realize that it will keep sickness away; that it will put every one on a new health footing; that it will free you all from pills and cathartics?

Kellogg's Bran is particularly delightful made in raisin bread, in macaroons, popovers, muffins, etc. Recipes are printed on each package!

You will say that Kellogg's Bran is a blessing to humanity.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran!

THE LIMITATIONS OF FORCE

THE pressure of force will accomplish a great deal when such force is mechanical and is directed to the movement of unintelligent materials. Just how much force can accomplish when it is applied to the task of compelling humans to obey the will of those who operate the force will be seen within the next few weeks in the Ruhr valley.

One of Europe's great writers said, while the World war was turning the attention of all peoples to the possibilities of force, that humanity must look to the day when the ideal of force will be overcome by the force of the ideal. Whether or not the pressure France is attempting to apply in the Ruhr valley will prove the wisdom of his pronouncement remains to be seen.

The direction of force against intelligent human beings may result in one of two attitudes to the party applying it. The people against whom it is directed may meet force with force, or they may sullenly look upon the force, which would compel them to do a certain task, while refusing to meet the demands made by the minds behind the force. The second course is being taken by the Germans at this time and the coal that France demanded still remains under ground.

It is unlikely that France can compel German manhood to work against its will by throwing a force around the scene of normal industrial activities and demanding that the men surrounded by a wall of steel do the task which they are unwilling to perform. The direction of force to such an end implies a condition on the part of those doing the work which is virtually slavery. And the quality of human nature is such in most parts of the world that men will not submit to a condition where they are robbed of freedom to decide whether they will or will not do the task that is demanded of them. The presence of such force acts as an incentive to rebellion against the power that makes the demand.

France is likely to find that men cannot be compelled to work against their will. France might compel the government of Germany to make certain concessions, but France cannot make men work who refuse to work. The demands that the French are making are dangerous demands and they may drive the German toler into associations with the communists of Russia. If such a serious decision results from the pressure of force as applied by France the whole of Europe is imperiled. In this case France will be doomed to a fate which her folly has invited.

Neither Germany nor France is to be excused from responsibility for the present situation. Germany has not done the right thing in refusing to make a serious effort to meet the reparation demands, even if these are altogether too high. But while the policy of Germany does not invite approval the present policy of France demands censure. France, whose ideal is force, will yet learn, what she did not learn in four years of war when she was saved by the strength of others, that force may bring a people to defeat on battlefields but must fail when it is directed to the virtual enslavement of a people. Non-resistance and sullen indifference on the part of the German people will defeat the French aims more completely than armed resistance. The ideal of force is losing its hold upon the intelligence of peoples.

MINNESOTA'S PROPOSED PSYCHOPATHIC HOSPITAL

THERE are a number of outstanding reasons why the bill, which calls for the erection of a state psychopathic hospital, and has been introduced in both houses of the Minnesota legislature should have favorable consideration.

Many of the crimes in Minnesota are committed by persons who are not fully responsible for their actions because of certain mental aberrations with which they are afflicted. There are within this state many morons, or subnormal persons, who are a danger to the persons of their fellow citizens and the property of their neighbors. Many such persons may be cured if taken at an early stage and placed under the care of properly qualified physicians who have studied the psychology of defectives.

Humanitarianism, which is leading to a pity for criminals, who too often escape from the penalty of their offenses, should be directed to saving person who may become criminals from criminal actions by clearing up their mental or nervous disorders. Purely selfish interests will support humanitarians in such a proposal, for one's life may be endangered by having such person at large.

THE statement may be made in opposing such a recommendation that in this period of retrenchment large expenditures should not be encouraged. The point of this argument is removed when statistics are submitted showing how much the state is spending in caring for them in a most unsatisfactory way. These statistics do not cover the great amount of damage to property that results from the operations of holdup men and other criminals who in many cases would be cured by correct treatment. Criminality is largely the result of a false attitude towards society which can be corrected by a readjustment of viewpoint.

One significant contribution, which the proposed hospital would make to Minnesota if the legislature accepts the proposal, would come through the facilities such a hospital would afford for the study of mental cases by physicians of the state who would be qualified through such training to attend to cases of this kind in the several communities of the state. Such patients do not yield to treatments prescribed by materia medica but to treatments suggested by a thorough knowledge of mental disorders.

INTERIM COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION

CITIZENS who are interested in the educational program of Minnesota should carefully study the recommendations of the interim committee on education which has just submitted its report to the legislature. This is the more desirable because there are clear indications that the demand for retrenchment may block progressive legislation designed to remove some of the educational injustices in this state. Already propaganda is being circulated to show the large amount of money expended by the state for educational matters the purse strings must not be drawn in to the educational purposes. But while Minnesota takes such a low rank among the states in educational matters the purse strings must not be drawn in to the disgrace of the state and the denial of their birthright to the children of the state.

This, however, may be said in favor of the policy of retrenchment. Money may be saved at the top. There are legitimate grounds for the criticism that education has taken on too many frills at the expense of children who should be taught the A. B. C's. Good citizenship in a democracy is founded upon a common education. All of the children should be given an educational armor that will stand against the attacks of prejudice and ignorance, even though we are compelled to cut away some of the costly trappings and plumes which are ornamental and decorative rather than useful and serviceable.

THE CONFESSION

By CHARLOTTE TALLEY

It had become almost an obsession with sleek, red-haired Thomas McKee to solve the problem of the tragic lines around the otherwise perfect mouth of Mrs. Archer, his secretary, and to obliterate them.

As he sat at his roll-top desk tapping it nervously with his slim white fingers, the afternoon of his return to his law office after a week of illness, it was Doctor Jones' extraordinary advice to him, and not the neat piles of business letters before him, that occupied his thoughts. "Get what's worrying you off your mind," the doctor had said. "If you're in love, propose." Well, he was in love, but Jean Archer had not responded very noticeably. Now he meant to propose, however, without delay.

He went over to where Mrs. Archer sat before a typewriter, in her black gown with its soft, white collar, and stood looking down at the tendrils of dark hair that curled above her white neck. "Jean, the most beautiful woman I ever held, I want to talk to you. Being over your past so, if Pablo comes in, he'll think I'm dying."

Mrs. Archer finished typewriting a sentence before she spoke. Her cheeks had grown pink as laurel blossoms in June and she said, sweetly, without looking up, her thick black lashes veiling her gray eyes, "Mrs. Archer, if you please, Mr. McKee." Then she brought her pad and pencil and sat down beside his desk.

"You'll always be Jean to me, Mrs. Archer," Thomas began, whimsically. "I have decided that I ought to get married. Now, no wife on earth would live with me peaceably if she knew what an attractive secretary I have. I don't care for any other woman, moreover, so the only solution of the problem, as I see it, is for you to marry me."

Mrs. Archer's face matched the blank white pad before her as she faltered, "I don't marry anyone, Mr. McKee. It would be wrong; at least, I should have to make a confession which would be most painful to me, and I might not then be acceptable."

Thomas flushed. He was silent for some moments. But his faith in Jean Archer was as strong as his love for her.

"Let's hear it."

Mrs. Archer's reply was to go over to her desk and, unlocking the right-hand drawer, to take from it a folded typewritten paper, which she placed before him. He took up her confession and read:

"My husband was dying. Weeks before, the doctor had told me he could not possibly live. We did not expect him to last through the night. At intervals, according to the doctor's instructions, I administered medicine or nourishment."

"If my husband died that night, Marion, my little girl of eight, and I would have five thousand dollars from an insurance policy with which to face life. If he lived a little longer, we should have nothing; money had already been borrowed on the policy and the last day of grace would expire the following day."

"We were strangers in the South-western town, where my husband had been sent by his Eastern physician to save his life. There was no one to whom I could turn as a friend."

"My husband was sleeping profoundly after a paroxysm of coughing, when the thought came to me. What would he wish if he were able to judge the situation? Marion had always been his idol. Why should she be made to suffer? It was almost time for his heart stimulant. (This temporarily renewed his hold on life, only to prolong his suffering. When I felt his pulse it was very weak."

"I went into the next room and looked at Marion. Our beautiful, helpless darling, with all of life before her! I was distracted; almost hysterical, from the strain of work beyond my strength, and weeks of worry."

"I then returned to my husband's bedside to prepare his medicine. He was awake and conscious, but with a feeble hand he thrust away the medicine glass."

"Jean," he whispered hoarsely, 'today—the insurance—Marion—I'm going soon. Let me go in peace.' This was not the first time that my husband's thought and mine had been identical."

"I tried to soothe him as I held the glass to his lips, but he would have none of it."

"For a few moments I sat watching him, making no effort to use force. Then suddenly he gasped and was gone."

"Had my delay hastened his end? Distractedly I begged the doctor to tell me as he filled out my husband's death certificate. 'It may have by a few hours,' he said, 'but that is all.'"

"But I ponder the question often, and I never forget what I failed to do that night, for I truly loved my husband."

Thomas McKee drew a perplexed sigh. He was accustomed to making decisions, but this case was without a precedent.

He turned toward her. Her fringed gray eyes held a look of appeal and the lines around her mouth had deepened. "I'll smooth them out," he inwardly declared.

"You must forget," he said. Then he drew her unresisting toward him, and she rested in his arms like a tired child, wearied of a long journey.

Little Interest in the Phone.

When the telephone was struggling for recognition 40 years ago it was the idea of Alexander Bell to popularize the instrument by showing it at public gatherings and incidentally, in this manner, to gather some coin to help defray the great expense which he was put to in the development of the instrument. Mrs. W. J. Coyle, now of Floral Park, Long Island, was living in Baltimore, Md., at that time and was engaged in preparing for a charity fair when she was approached by a friend who was also interested in the fair and he brought with him the inventor of the telephone who explained his scheme. The idea was to install instruments at the fair and at the Masonic temple a few squares away and to make a charge of ten cents at either end for the experience of conversing over the wire. The instrument created little interest and the proceeds were barely worth while.

THE LIMITATIONS OF FORCE

THE pressure of force will accomplish a great deal when such force is mechanical and is directed to the movement of unintelligent materials. Just how much force can accomplish when it is applied to the task of compelling humans to obey the will of those who operate the force will be seen within the next few weeks in the Ruhr valley.

One of Europe's great writers said, while the World war was turning the attention of all peoples to the possibilities of force, that humanity must look to the day when the ideal of force will be overcome by the force of the ideal. Whether or not the pressure France is attempting to apply in the Ruhr valley will prove the wisdom of his pronouncement remains to be seen.

The direction of force against intelligent human beings may result in one of two attitudes to the party applying it. The people against whom it is directed may meet force with force, or they may suddenly look upon the force, which would compel them to do a certain task, while refusing to meet the demands made by the minds behind the force. The second course is being taken by the Germans at this time and the coal that France demanded still remains under ground.

It is unlikely that France can compel German manhood to work against its will by throwing a force around the scene of normal industrial activities and demanding that the men surrounded by a wall of steel do the task which they are unwilling to perform. The direction of force to such an end implies a condition on the part of those doing the work which is virtually slavery. And the quality of human nature is such in most parts of the world that men will not submit to a condition where they are robbed of freedom to decide whether they will or will not do the task that is demanded of them. The presence of such force acts as an incentive to rebellion against the power that makes the demand.

France is likely to find that men cannot be compelled to work against their will. France might compel the government of Germany to make certain concessions, but France cannot make men work who refuse to work. The demands that the French are making are dangerous demands and they may drive the German toler into associations with the communists of Russia. If such a serious decision results from the pressure of force as applied by France the whole of Europe is imperiled. In this case France will be doomed to a fate which her folly has invited.

Neither Germany nor France is to be excused from responsibility for the present situation. Germany has not done the right thing in refusing to make a serious effort to meet the reparation demands, even if these are altogether too high. But while the policy of Germany does not invite approval the present policy of France demands censure. France, whose ideal is force, will yet learn, what she did not learn in four years of war when she was saved by the strength of others, that force may bring a people to defeat on battlefields but must fail when it is directed to the virtual enslavement of a people. Non-resistance and sullen indifference on the part of the German people will defeat the French aims more completely than armed resistance. The ideal of force is losing its hold upon the intelligence of peoples.

CHAMBER COMMERCE PRIMARY ELECTION

To be Held at the Meeting Just Previous to the Annual Meeting

BOARD OF 8 NEW DIRECTORS

"Civic and Commerce Association" is New Name Proposed for Chamber

The committee in charge of recommendations for changing the articles of incorporation and the by-laws of the Chamber of Commerce, reported in full at the special meeting held Wednesday evening.

The committee recommended that in place of an advisory board, a board of eight directors be elected. Also that three vice presidents be elected, each to have charge of a district department of the Chamber, one for the Commercial Development Department, one for the Civic Department and one for the Organization Department.

It was further recommended that all officers, except the secretary, be elected by a primary election held at the meeting just previous to the annual meeting. Every member of the Chamber would be a candidate for all of these office and would be on the ballot as such. The two highest candidates thus chosen for each office would be voted upon at the annual meeting. The 16 highest candidates in the primary election would furnish the names to be voted upon at the annual meeting for the board of directors, of which eight would be elected.

It was recommended by the committee that the dues of the club be not less than $10. Additional dues of individuals in business or practicing a profession, members of firms or corporations, shall be determined by the board of directors in consultation with the party or parties concerned.

Walter F. Wieland, chairman of the legislative committee, brought up the matter of the gross earnings tax, and the proposed bill concerning this which is before the legislature now. The chamber went on record as being against this bill as it now stands, but does favor the principle that there should be a local return of the gross earnings tax in such cities and towns where there is a large amount of railway property. It was pointed out in the discussion that though Brainerd is a city of ten thousand population, her taxes are only assessed on the basis of a three thousand population city, due to being unable to share in the taxes from the railway shops here.

The chamber further went on record as opposed to a change in the routing of Trunk Highway No. 27 to come over the so-called 13th Street road instead of 6th Street.

It was decided that at the next regular meeting on next Wednesday, January 24th, that an amendment to the articles of incorporation will be offered, providing for the changing of the name of the Chamber of Commerce to "The Civic & Commerce Association," and that the new officers be elected at this meeting to take their seats as soon as the articles of incorporation are filed.

The proposed by-laws have been posted on the bulletin board in the club rooms, and every member is urged to read them carefully and offer any suggestions for changes that may be beneficial.

A resolution on the change of the route of "Minnesota Boulevard" a paved highway running diagonally across the state from the southeast to the northwest corner, be recommended, so that this highway will be built north from Little Falls through Brainerd instead of west of our sister city as has been proposed. The Walker Automobile Club also favors this change and has passed similar resolutions.

A copy of the resolution adopted by the Chamber were sent to the St. Paul Pioneer Press, sponsors of the movement, and another given to the Brainerd Dispatch and will be found in another column of this paper.

CHAMBER COMMERCE PRIMARY ELECTION

To be Held at the Meeting Just Preceding to the Annual Meeting

BOARD OF 8 NEW DIRECTORS

"Civic and Commerce Association" is New Name Proposed for Chamber

The committee in charge of recommendations for changing the articles of incorporation and the by-laws of the Chamber of Commerce, reported in full at the special meeting held Wednesday evening. The committee recommended that in place of an advisory board, a board of eight directors be elected. Also that three vice presidents be elected, each to have charge of a district department of the Chamber, one for the Commercial Development Department, one for the Civic Department and one for the Organization Department.

It was further recommended that all officers, except the secretary, be elected by a primary election held at the meeting just previous to the annual meeting. Every member of the Chamber would be a candidate for all of these offices, and would be on the ballot as such. The two highest candidates thus chosen for each office would be voted upon at the annual meeting. The 16 highest candidates in the primary election would furnish the names to be voted upon at the annual meeting for the board of directors, of which eight would be elected.

It was recommended by the committee that the dues of the club be not less than $10. Additional dues of individuals in business or practicing a profession, members of firms or corporations, shall be determined by the board of directors in consultation with the party or parties concerned. Walter F. Wieland, chairman of the legislative committee, brought up the matter of the gross earning tax, and the proposed bill concerning this which is before the legislature now. The chamber further went on record as opposed to a change in the routing of Trunk Highway No. 27 to come over the so-called 13th Street road instead of 6th Street.

It was decided that at the next regular meeting on next Wednesday, January 24th, that an amendment to the articles of incorporation will be

PRINCETON HOLDS SIX CHAMPIONSHIPS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 19.—Princeton had a rough year of sports during the 1922 season. The best the Tigers could do was to win six intercollegiate championships in—football, soccer, basketball, water polo, golf and polo.

The gridiron championship of the "Big Three" and the best claim to the eastern championship, of course, was the most valued accomplishment on the field.

Being as the Tigers are of the opinion that a little slump in their prowess on the field will mean their exit from the "Big Three," there isn't much need for worry in the immediate future.

Harvard didn't set anything on fire in 1922, but the Crimson figures the year well spent since Yale was beaten in football, track and hockey. Yale beat Harvard on the water and the diamond, but the football triumph is THE thing that all Yale and Harvard athletes pull for and the others are trivial.

Jack McAuliffe and some of the other veterans who regard the present day boxers as cake eaters, will have to modify their remarks when they are to include Merel Montes, the little Texas lightweight, who went fifty-one rounds to knockout Jimmy Dundee in Mexico City.

Many of the old time boxers regard fifteen rounds as a mere workout and it was a rather general opinion that there were very few boxers in the ring today who could go more than twenty rounds.

When two second raters have endurance enough to go fifty-one rounds, it does not speak badly of the modern crop of battlers.

From a straight standpoint of endurance there is no doubt that as many of today's fighters could go over just as long a distance as some of the old timers.

Modern fighters take their business seriously and train strictly for their business. Old timers did not.

From another viewpoint, however, it is doubtful if two high class, well-matched boxers would have to go more than twenty or thirty rounds.

Scientific hitting and skilled mechanics of fighting are products of the new game.

Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler in a finish fight for the lightweight championship would be a wonderful card, and so would one to the limit between Harry Greb and Tom Gibbons or Greb and Gene Tunney. Either of the latter would produce a new, light heavyweight champion and Benny probably would be a tired light champion about the twentieth round.

Constance Talmadge and Warner Oland in "East is West."

Never has Constance Talmadge been seen to such advantage as in "East is West," the first National attraction which will be shown at the New Park on Saturday and Sunday.

This may seem a broad statement but it is more than justified by Miss Talmadge's interpretation of the role of Ming Toy. Due credit must go to Joseph M. Schenck, who plunged on this production to the extent of buying one of the biggest stage successes of recent years at an enormous cost for the one star best suited to portray the leading role.

Marion Davies in "Enchantment" at Lyceum

Marion Davies, star of Cosmopolitan productions, reaches a new plane in her art in "Enchantment," a Paramount picture which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre to-night and Saturday.

Cast as a pampered and petted society favorite, Miss Davies is a lovely miss whose power over her boy friends has gone to her head. She displays the flippancy of the character with skill. It is a role perfect-shown at the Lyceum theatre to-night and Saturday.

CENTRAL FIGURES IN KLAN PROBE

Left to right are "Tot" Davenport, who had been captured by the Klan and allowed to escape after being threatened. J. L. Daniels, father of F. Watt Daniels who had been killed by a hooded band said to be Klansmen; and W. C. Andrews, kidnaped by the same masked band that kidnaped young Daniels and Richards. These three men are the central figures in the hearing being conducted at Bastrop, La.

ly suited to Miss Davies' qualities.

"Enchantment" was adapted to the screen from the story "Manhandling Ethel" by Frank R. Adams. The keynote of the story is found in Shakespeare's, "The Taming of the Shrew," a scene from which is included in the production. Ethel Hoyt's (Marion Davies) father sees in the actor who has the role of Petruchio the means of breaking his haughty daughter's proud spirit. The actor consents to "tame" Ethel—and that is the beginning of his troubles.

Betty Compson in "Sheik" Picture at Lyceum Sunday

In the new Betty Compson production, "Always the Woman," which will come to the Lyceum theatre Sunday, this film luminary has a gorgeous role that gives her opportunity to display the many sides of her acting genius. It is the biggest production Miss Compson has made and involved the building of pyramids and a great oasis in the sandy wastes of a California landscape, for the action of "Always the Woman" takes place in Egypt—partly in the ancient days when history was not recorded, but mostly at the present time.

Converted to the Metric System.

Washington Vanderlip, the well-known prospector and promoter, was talking in New York about the Russians.

"Bolshevism will never penetrate into the mass of the people," he said. "You can't teach an old dog new tricks, and the Russian race is old, very old—as old, in fact, as the Chinese."

"One day in Moscow I gave a moujik a meter rule and told him to get the length of a certain casting for me. 'The moujik, though unused to the metric system, strode off calmly. When he came back he said: 'She is as long as the rule, little father, plus this flask of vodka, these two million-rouble notes, and my thumb from here to here.'"

Fata Morgana Mirage.

The mirage which is often seen at the straits of Messina is known as the Fata Morgana, because it was thought to have been the work of a fairy of that name. In Arthurian legend, Morgana la Fay was the sister of Arthur.

FIERY, ITCHY ECZEMA HEALED RIGHT UP BY APPLYING SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Menthosulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Menthosulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream. Adv.
